MUKDEN ARMY TO STRIKE AT PEKING AGAIN IS PREDICTION

Newspaper Warns Of New Attack By Chang

IS REORGANISING

Drive Either In The Autumn, Or Early Spring

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tientsin, August 31.—The Peking and Tientsin Times, in the course of a leading article on "The Menace from Manchuria," warns Chinese and foreigners to be prepared for another invasion by Chang Tso-lin's hordes against Peking. It states that General Chang has been spending lavish sums in reorganising his armies and that he has engaged many foreign, chiefly Russian, instructors and is buying arms and munitions and vast quantities of winter clothes and other supplies. The article says that the war will possibly be in the autumn or, more probably, early in the spring. On the other hand, many Chinese anticipate an outbreak of hostilities as soon as the crops are gathered.

JAPANESE PRESS SEE SIGNIFICANCE IN NEW PARLEYS

Conference To Have Far Reaching Effect, Belief

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, August 31.—All the newspapers here are attaching much importance to the forthcoming Changchun conference, and in particular to its political and moral significance, as they take it for granted that both the Genoa and the Hague Conferences have led to the attendance at the Changchun conference of Mr. Joffe, representative of the Soviet Government. In this connection not a few papers today published leading articles dealing with the prospects of the coming negotiations. While they demand sincerity of Mr. Joffe, they likewise urge the Japanese Government to show the same.

Mukden, August 31.—A Harbin despatch dated August 29 states: Interviewed today by Japanese pressrepresentatives, Mr. Yanson, Minister of Foreign Affairs of the Far Eastern Republic, who arrived at Harbin on the morning of August 28 as a delegate of the Soviet Government, made the following statement:

"Owing to imperfect communications, full arrangements have not yet been made with Mr. Joffe in Peking as to the exact date for the opening of the Russo-Japanese conference, but it is likely that the conference will be commenced on or about September 3. With regard to the substance of the conference, I am not yet in a position to express concrete views. All matters cannot be ascertained until after the opening of the conference. I am of the opinion that a compromise can never be effected between the Chita and Vladivostok governments, for the two differ in their fundamental principles. It is possible that they will come into conflict at no distant date. The extent of the conflict will be judged by how far Japanese militarists will assist the Whites. As regards the disposal of the seized arms, the matter will be settled according to the attitude of the Japanese military authorities concerned."

REPLY MADE BY 'LITTLE HSU' TO WU'S OVERTURES

Minister Of War Negotiating Between Anfu And Chihli Leaders

(China Press Correspondence)

Loyang, August 31.—General Wu Pei-fu has received a letter from General Hsu Shu-tseng, popularly known as Little Hsu, in response to certain overtures made by General Chang Shao-tseng, Minister of War, on behalf of General Wu.

In the message, the former leader of the Anhui clique advised General Wu Pei-fu to support Marshal Tuan Chi-jui, the Peiyang leader and Dr. Sun Yat-sen and work out a plan for national reunification. Hsu predicts embarrassment for Wu unless the latter carries out his suggestions and associate himself with able men of the time to carry out the work of Rehabilitation in China as set forth in his new book on "National Reconstruction."

Loyang Bandits Hold Students For Ransom

(China Press Correspondence)

Loyang, August 28.—Over a score students and the principal of the Middle School of Loyang were kidnapped today by bandits. While the majority of victims had been recovered through a chase conducted by the troops of General Wu Pei-fu, the principal and half a dozen students are still prisoners in the hands of the brigands who are holding them for ransom.

Tsai Resignation Leads To Protests

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 31.—It is officially announced that Mr. Mai Chang-yuan and upwards of 1,200 others representing various organisations at Nanchang have telegraphed to the Central Government saying that they learn with great surprise that General Tsai Cheng-hsun has submitted his resignation. General Tsai has ousted the Southern invaders and quelled numerous outlaw bands but, the telegram continues, the maintenance of peace and order depends upon his presence in Kiangsi. The petitioners therefore trust that he will be allowed to remain in Kiangsi, at least for the present.

Joffe, Rea Envoy, Was Six Months In Chinese Turkestan

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 29.—A cable despatch dated Simla August 25 said that reports from Kashgar indicate that the Bolsheviks are again trying to conclude a treaty with Chinese Turkestan.

This news is interesting at this time of the presence of M. Joffe in Peking as head of the mission from the Soviet Republic of Russia. For a period of six months last year, M. Joffe was in Turkestan investigating the question of settling trade disputes with that Province of China. It seems that trade has been carried on for sometime but owing to the lack of regulations, it became more or less contraband and illicit. With a view to straightening this out, M. Joffe went to Kashgar.

In order not to transgress the sovereignty of China, merely local trade matters were supposedly discussed with the Taoyin of Kashgar and international matters were left for the Peking Government.

M. Joffe stated, however, that he had no information as to whether a Russian representative was now negotiating with the authorities of Chinese Turkestan.

EARTHQUAKE IN KANSU MAY REVEAL HEAVY LOSS OF LIFE

New Shock In Section "Where Mountains Walked"

DRAGON STIRRING

Hundred Thousand Lives Lost There Two Years Ago

(China Press Correspondence)

Kuyuan, August 31.—An extremely severe earthquake was felt here at 7:40 o'clock last night. Considerable damage has been done but the amount has not yet been ascertained. The populace is panic-stricken.

The dragon in the heart of Asia is stirring again.

From Kuyuan in Kansu Province comes the brief and significant dispatch to the effect that on the evening of August thirtieth an extremely severe earthquake shook the province. The damage, says the telegram, has not yet been ascertained. The people are panic-stricken.

It was a message of just such brevity that told the world in December, 1920, of the terrific earthquake which almost shook the unfortunate province into a desert of loose earth and that wiped out 100,000 lives in a few minutes of seismic retching. It was not until months later that the full details of the calamity were unfolded and the world came to realise that the greatest earthquake in history had almost pulverised a large province in the heart of Central Asia. The isolation of Kansu is vividly illustrated by the small amount of interest that the catastrophe created. If an earthquake severe enough to bring death to 100,000 people had occurred in America or Europe, it would have crowded everything else off the front page for weeks. Relief organisations would have been formed in every city, corps of featurewriters would be dispatched to the spot, and the event would soon become a milestone of chronological reckoning.

UNKNOWN TO WORLD

It is doubtful, however, if one person in a hundred at home ever heard of the Kansu earthquake. Those who did read the first modest dispatch probably forgot it before they had buttered another piece of toast. Such is the effect of great distance that a host of lost cities in Central Asia make less impression on the average mind than the collapse of the back porch next door.

That the unfortunate province, dazedly trying to recover itself after the terrible tragedy of less than two years ago should again go under the lash, seems to indicate that the law of compensation has been temporarily repealed. The hard-working pioneers in China's great West deserved a better fate than to see their houses and cities to dust before their eyes, burying thousands of people in their depths.

Owing to the peculiar structure of the soil, an earthquake in Kansu can wreak greater havoc than in almost any other part of the world. Much of the province is covered by a coating of mica and powdered quartz known as loess. Even without the aid of seismic disturbances, the face of the country is constantly changing. A tiny stream can, in a year or so, sink a canyon a hundred feet deep. Roads are continually being effaced, fields change their levels between crops, and even the so-called unchanging hills alter their figuration as if children had built them of sand. Shaken by an earthquake, valleys and mountains race each other pell-mell into obliteration. There were landslides in December, 1920, that moved roads and houses as far as three miles. In one district, where the mountains literally poured themselves into the valley, only three people in the entire population were left alive.

FISSURES IN SOIL

Though saved from the horror of the landslides, the bunch-grass country to the North of the province suffered with almost equal severity. The hard alkali soil opened in great fissures and its

PEKING ENVOY TO ASK WU TO HELP IN MONEY CRISIS

Cabinet Formation To Await Return Of Emissary

(Chung Mei Service)

Peking, August 28.—Chang Ing-hua, the Vice-Minister of Finance in charge of that Ministry, left Peking yesterday at two p.m. for Paoting and Loyang. He expects to have a talk with General Tsao Kun this morning and then go on to Loyang. The Chinese papers say that behind his obvious financial mission, he is to sound out Tsao and Wu Pei-fu on the premiership. Naturally, the Cabinet needs money and advice from the warlords how to raise it will be helpful.

It is generally conceded in Peking that no action will be taken on the reorganisation of the Cabinet until Chang Ing-hua reports from both his conversations. This is thought to be the case, despite the fact that discussion of the Tang Shao-yi Cabinet is on the agenda for Wednesday's meeting of Parliament. It is not likely that the delegate to Paoting and Loyang can wire back anything definite until the end of the week and hence the Wang Chung-hui Cabinet is predicted to have at least one more week of life. Dr. Wang still remains in the Peking Union Medical College Hospital.

Political circles report the approaching of General Chang Shou-tseng, Minister of War, by representatives of President Li with the object of getting his assent to form a new Cabinet. Feelers are also supposed to have been sent out among Parliamentarians to see how they react toward such a move. Some say that it would be agreeable to them and the concensus seems to be that General Chang will eventually take over the leadership of the Cabinet. A two months' term is calculated for such a Cabinet by those who are close students of the trend of the affair.

Radio Telephone Craze Hits Paris

(Chung Mei Service)

Paris, August 15.—The wireless telephony craze has started to take hold in France.

The Minister of Agriculture has outlined a plan to the Cabinet whereunder the government will broadcast a wireless weather forecast twice daily. At each village a receiving apparatus is to be erected either at the police station or parish school.

Upon the receipt of news of impending changes of weather that might affect crops the police will signal the news to the entire region by ringing bells.

Thus the farmers in the path of an advancing storm will be forewarned hours ahead to enable measures to be taken to save the crops.

SEIYUKAI PARTY MANAGERS HOLD POLICY MEETING

Question Of Taking Back Former Ministers Considered

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, August 31.—The Seiyukai Party yesterday held a supreme management meeting at the residence of Viscount Takahashi, President of the Party, when the question of return to the Party of Messrs. Motoda, ex-Minister of Railways, and Nakahashi, ex-Minister of Education, as well as counter-measures towards the policy of the Government, were deliberated upon.

In the course of the meeting an argument arose with regard to the disarmament question, that the term of military service should be shortened a little more, though the estimated military expenditure is approximate to the decision of the House, but finally it was decided not to arrive at a definite conclusion as yet concerning the Bill tendered by the War Office and to advise the military authorities to form a final disarmament plan with sincerity.

As for the railway question, it was unanimously agreed that inasmuch as the completion of the network of railways was the assertion of the Seiyukai Party and in view of the fact that local people were all willing to see the plan carried out, the Government should be requested to put the fixed plan in force. It was further decided that the river-improvement question being very important and urgent for the cultivation of local districts and the development of local industry, a full understanding should be obtained in this connection from the Government.

With reference to the educational expenses and the sum of the subsidy by the national treasury, the Seiyukai Party wants Y. 50,000,000 to Y. 60,000,000 but if the above figures cannot be met by the Government, the government should, it was decided, be requested to adopt a policy of compliance with the request of the Party as much as possible.

Police Department Legal Advisor To Resign In December

Mr. R. C. Faithful, Legal Assistant to the Municipal Police Department, who has been acting as Legal Advisor to the department, will terminate his services with the Municipal Council on December 31, according to an announcement made in the Municipal Gazette yesterday.

It is expected that Mr. Faithful's duties will be undertaken by Superintendent of Police Vaughn who has been prosecuting cases for the police in the Mixed Court for several months.

TYPHOON DOES MUCH DAMAGE HERE; SHIPS IDLE; CABLES BROKEN

Danger Of Greater Blow Not Yet Over, Although Wind Seems To Have Changed Direction; High Tides Invade Lumber Yards

LOGS, ADRIFT, FILL THE WHANGPOO

All River Craft Held In Shelter By Yesterday's Severe Wind; Many Trees Uprooted About City; Losses Are Considerable

Lashed by wind of almost hurricane force and drenched by violent squalls of rain yesterday afternoon and last night, Shanghai, already scoured, bade fair to catch the full force of the typhoon before daybreak today.

It was predicted earlier in the day yesterday that the storm center would reach Shanghai early in the evening, but at the time of going to press the barometer was still falling, while latent wireless warnings flashed to ships at sea stated that the center of the typhoon still lay between Shanghai and Gutslaff, 65 miles to the Southeast, and was moving Northwestward.

The storm could cross the Shanghai district, Siccawei's final report stated, and would reach the Yangtsze mouth, with very violent cyclonic storms over the city, accompanied by tidal waves in the Yangtsze Estuary and the Whangpoo.

At 11 p.m. the four red lights signalling imminent danger for Shanghai and the immediate vicinity were hoisted above the Semaphore station on the French Bund. The barometer then stood at 29.21, and was still falling sharply, while the wind, though seemingly not so strong as earlier, was coming in violent gusts. The latest report on the wind's force here placed it at 10, or almost hurricane force, while off the coast and at Gutslaff in the afternoon it was at a force of 12, the highest recording figure, signifying a full hurricane.

CONSIDERABLE DAMAGE

Shanghai suffered considerable material damage throughout the day yesterday while shipping, with the exception of a few river boats, was brought to a standstill. The city was also rendered isolated so far as cable communications are concerned.

Matsheds, huts, trees, light and telephone poles, signboards and chimneys, were blown down all over the Settlements and in Chinese territory, but, so far as could be learned up to a late hour last night no deaths or injuries resulted.

A dramatic situation was provided in the river by the perilous case of the steamer Hung Fok, brought to Shanghai for repairs some months ago after going ashore in the Yangtsze Gorges, and anchored here off Tunkadoo, in the Arsenal Reach. The ship, which was badly damaged and had sunk, was salved and brought to this port after some highly efficient and strenuous work by Captain J. R. Hudson. At the time the blow started yesterday she was anchored, with two anchors out, at a point about opposite the French Waterworks. The force of the wind parted one of the anchor chains at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and the ship, with a crew of eight Chinese aboard, began swinging wildly about at the end of the single remaining tether. Owing to the heavy sea running the men aboard could not launch a boat and it was impossible to send a boat out from shore. At dark last night the ship had dragged anchor nearly a quarter of a mile and it was feared that before morning she would break loose completely possibly to the damage of other shipping in the upper river.

BOATS SEEK SHELTER

The Whangpoo yesterday afternoon was practically clear of all small craft, while the larger ships had made fast securely alongside, or dropped emergency anchors. A few tugs buffeted the racing waves, encountering in addition to the danger of swamping, the menace provided by some hundreds of huge timbers which late in the afternoon broke their booms at the China Import and Export Lumber Co. yards and drifted rapidly upstream, driven by wind and tide. The logs pounded the pontoons and lighters along the Bund and swung in large numbers against the shoreline of the Quai de France, where many of them were snared by the river population and drawn in behind the pontoons.

The Bund, Avenue Edward VII, Soochow Road and other thoroughfares in the downtown district open to the force of the wind presented a bedraggled appearance, with trees blown flat or at dangerous angles. Along

HANYANG STRIKERS SMASH UP WORKS AS TROOPS FIRE

Over $10,000,000 Worth Of Machinery Demolished By Laborers

Seven millions worth of arsenal machinery and three millions worth of linen manufacturing machinery were demolished when strikers bombarded the Hanyang Iron Works on Wednesday, according to a Hankow telegram.

Tuchun Hsiao Yao-nan of Hupeh, explaining that the riot was instigated by certain political factions, including the Fengtien clique.

Popular opinion in Hankow, however, seems to be favorable to the destruction of machinery for the manufacturing of man-killing weapons, which are prolonging the internal strife.

The riot was started when General Hsiao's troops attempted to force the strikers back to work and fired upon them when they resisted.

General Wu Pei-fu has authorised General Chiang Ting-chi, director of the Kunghsien, Honan, Arsenal, to conduct a thorough investigation of the damages caused by the riot among the strikers of the Hanyang Arsenal, according to the Dah Tong News Bureau.

The Kunghsien Arsenal has been ordered to work double shift on account of the strike at the Hanyang works. General Chiang has left Kunghsien for Hankow on his mission.

General Yang Wen-kai, director of the arsenal has been placed under vigilance by order of the Tuchun.

It is estimated that it would take six months before the arsenal can operate as usual.

Two battalions of troops are now guarding the arsenal. Three gunboats are also standing by ready for eventualities.

Boats Navigating Upper River Again

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 31.—A message from Szechuen states that taking advantage of the lull in hostilities vessels on the upper Yangtsze are resuming navigation. It appears, however, that remnants of the Second Army are preparing to concentrate at Lichwanhsien, while troops from Shensi are cooperating with them on the Northern border of Szechuen.

Three Ministries To Pay For Education

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 31.—According to the main condition on which Mr. Kao Eng-hung returned to Peking from Peitaiho a Chihling mandate issued today makes the Ministries of Finance and Education jointly responsible with the Chiaotungpu for the providing of education funds.

the foreshore a number of good sized trees were hurled to the Fordon Road, Hongkew, the ground with such force as to break up the concrete sidewalk surrounding them.

In the outlying districts—Yangtszepoo, Bubbling Well, Gordon Road, Hongkew, the French Concession, the damage to shade trees and poles was even more extensive and some of the streets were a tangle of trunks, broken limbs and stripped foliage.

High water in the river accompanied the blow last evening, flooding the foreshore along the Bund and inundating sections of Chefoo, Hunch, Woosung, Kwaichow, Newchwang and other roads by backing up in the sewers.

Bamboo fences throughout the city were levelled and tram traffic on Chefoo Road, near Chefoo [illegible] was held up for half an hour last night owing to the blowing down of fencing surrounding the new block of houses being constructed there. In Chapei hundreds of sheds and huts were demolished, their occupants seeking shelter in the temples and with the various benevolent organisations.

At 9.15 p.m. time yesterday a big chimney of the China General Electric Company, on Robinson Road, gave way before the force of the gale and crashed down on top of the workshops, damaging them severely. The fact that it was off time and the men were out of the shops undoubtedly prevented any loss of life.

It is that the storm has cut North China off from the rest of the world so far as cable communication is concerned was announced yesterday afternoon, when the various cable companies reported that their lines Southward were interrupted. Owing to the rough weather at sea it is expected that several days at least must elapse before repair work can be attempted.

Local communications also were hit, the telephone wires in various parts of the city evidently being down, to judge by the difficulty in getting calls through. Electric light wires, fusing by being blown together or brought down by falling poles and trees, threw sections of the city into darkness, but trouble in this connection was remarkably small.

Incoming and outgoing ships in considerable number were delayed by the typhoon. Among the incoming craft which the storm has put behind schedule are the Pacific Mail liner President Cleveland, due this morning; the O. S. K. steamer Alabama Maru, which left Nagasaki Tuesday and will not be in until some time today; the O. S. K. Havre Maru, from Dairen on Tuesday, which should be in late today; and the Saikio Maru, from Tsingtau, due early today, but probably held up until late this afternoon.

No word was received from the President Cleveland last night, but an intercepted wireless message gave hopes that the vessel, which was behind the typhoon, may be able to make the morning tide today.

Several steamers, including two European liners, which left port before the danger signal was given, hove anchor at Woosung to wait out the blow. These include the N. Y. K. steamer Katori Maru, bound for London; the Glen Line steamer Glenluce, also for London; the San Peh company's Weishun, for Tientsin; and Jardine's Waiching, bound for Swatow and Hongkong.

Among the ships scheduled to sail yesterday but which stayed in port, are the steamers Riga, Kaigen Maru, Yamashiro Maru, Patroit, Sheaf Lance, Kifune Maru, Tamon Maru, Teli, Hangchow, Yungshin.

The China Merchants' Hsin Kiangteen did not sail from Ningpo on Wednesday, as per schedule, owing to the typhoon and the Indo-China steamer Fooshing, from Tientsin, and the same company's ship the Hopsang, from Hongkong, both due yesterday are evidently waiting for the danger to pass before putting into port.

One or two river boats were able to leave or make port yesterday, though with difficulty.

The Tuckwo, which arrived from river ports at 10:30 a.m., had a long battle with the wind and tide before it could be docked. After trying vainly to dock the ship for two hours, two tugs were called for and they tugged and pulled for another hour before the ship could be brought alongside and the passengers discharged. Once the Tuckwo slipped into a buoy and came close to drifting into another ship at anchor. A Japanese river steamer arriving yesterday morning also fought for over an hour before it could be docked.

Only 16 Saved Of Wrecked Japanese Cruiser's 300 Crew

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, August 31.—According to despatches received at the Maizuru Naval Station one sailor from the Niitaka succeeded in swimming ashore, after which he walked to Petropavlovsk, where the Maki is stationed.

The exact cause of the disaster is at present not known.

Later.—An official despatch from the Maki states that the wreck of the Niitaka has been found, half-submerged. Sixteen survivors have been picked up, some of whom are seriously injured.

Tokio, August 31.—The survivors of the Niitaka disaster report that the ship was being anchored in the north of the Ogelnya river on the night of August 25 when it was overtaken by the storm. The violence and size of the waves washed over the vessel, putting out the fires. A severe shock was felt early the next day, followed by a heavy list on the starboard, the vessel capsizing 30 minutes later.

(Eastern News Agency)

Tokio, August 31.—The Naval Department today announces that, putting together reports from the destroyer, 'Maki,' which was immediately despatched to the actual scene of the disaster to the cruiser, Niitaka, it appears that those who have been found to be alive number only sixteen, the remainder of the crew, over 300 officers and men, having perished.

From the night of August 25, the southeastern wind became very violent, turning into a typhoon on the morning of August 26 with the consequence that the raging sea swallowed up the hull of the cruiser.

About 6 a.m. of August 26 there were great shocks and the hull began to incline towards the starboard, completely upsetting about 7 a.m. the cruiser. Though the searching of the inside of the ill-fated cruiser is being carried out with one diving apparatus, which has been borrowed from the Russo-Japanese Fishing Company, the operation is rather hopeless owing to the waves. The search for bodies along the coast of Ozernoie is also being conducted in co-operation with the Fishing Company.

Holland Declines To Cut Rubber Output

(Reuter's Service)

The Hague, August 30.—The Minister of the Colonies has written to the International Association for Rubber Culture in the Dutch Indies, stating that, following upon an exchange of views with the Governor-General of the East Indies regarding the difficulties of rubber growers, he has decided that the adoption of legal measures to limit the production of rubber at present could not be justified.

He declares his readiness seriously to consider concrete proposals submitted by those concerned but he declines to appoint a commission to elaborate such measures, as this might be construed as a preliminary decision in principle in favor of compulsory limitation.

BERLIN ANXIOUS IN EXPECTATION OF NEW DECISION

Demand For Transfer Of Reichbank Gold Resisted

(China Press Service)

Berlin, Aug. 31.—Official circles in Berlin are waiting in daily expectation of a decision of the Reparations Commission on the question of a moratorium.

Officials here are fully aware of the gravity of the situation in case the Reparations Commission declines the last German offer on coal and wood deliveries.

Concerning the two demands still under consideration in Paris, the depositing of the Reichbank gold funds in safety and the depositing of bonds, the general feeling prevails in Berlin that these demands are not acceptable. The Reichbank, they contend, is an enormous and perfectly safe institution and the loss of the gold, which covers currency issued would wreck the monetary system.

Concerning the issuing and depositing of bonds the opinion is held that a creditor on the verge of bankruptcy is not capable of issuing bonds.

One hundred and forty-four German newspapers and periodicals stopped publication during August owing to the enormous increases in prices.

Berlin, Aug. 31.—Owing to the enormous rise in the cost of living in Germany labor unions and civil servants federations have started a new nation-wide campaign for a raise in wages and salaries.

Paris, Aug. 31.—The American Army of Occupation in Germany will be increased from 800 men to 3,000 in the near future, according to reports reaching here today.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, August 30.—At a meeting today of the Reparations Commission, at which the United States was semi-officially represented, the German delegate, Herr Schroeder, made a long speech on the position of Germany.

He explained the German proposals for guaranteeing deliveries of timber and coal by private contracts and for the deposit of 50,000,000 gold marks from the Reichbank's reserves in a city in the occupied territory.

Herr Schroeder argued that the system of pledges would defeat its own ends because the possibility of confiscation would destroy confidence in the mark rendering a resumption of reparations payments impossible.

Berlin, Aug. 30.—Drastic measures to avoid food shortage were outlined by the Minister of Food in the Reichstag today, who announced that owing to the depreciation of the mark bread had considerably advanced in price since October 15.

He foreshadowed prohibition of production of strong beer owing to the poor grain harvest and also of the manufacture of sweets, liqueurs and sweetened wine from homegrown sugar.

Gormandising in restaurants would be countered by making the giving of more than one meat course a penal offence.

STRAUSS IN PEKING

Seven Candidates For Governorship

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Peking, August 31.—Nominations for Civil Governor of Hunan have resulted in the selection of seven candidates. The actual contest is likely to lie between General Chao Heng-ti and Mr. Tan Yen-kai. Mr. Hsiung Hsi-ling has also been nominated but it is considered that he is not likely to accept.

In the meantime Generals Li Lieh-chun and Chen Cha-yu are preparing to intervene on behalf of Mr. Tan Yen-kai. It is reported that they have occupied 13 hsiens in Southern Hunan and have commenced to march to the North by different routes for a demonstration against Changsha.

The Changsha authorities are concentrating troops at Leiyanghsien as a defensive measure.

Unkind To Asiatics To Let Them In U. S. Says Former Envoy

(China Press Service)

Vancouver, B. C., Aug. 26.—John W. Davis, former ambassador to England, addressing the Canadian Bar Association today, declared "there is a clean concensus of opinion that to open our doors to Asiatic immigration would not be a kindness toward the Asiatics nor to ourselves. Between them and us, differences of race, habit and custom are too profound to make their entrance a source of happiness to them and to ourselves."

TROUBLE IN BAGDAD

(China Press Service)

London, Aug. 31.—The London Daily News hears from Bassorah that owing to the recent aggravations of the Mesopotamia situation the British High commissioner, Sir Percy Cox, has been forced to take drastic measures, arresting and expelling the ex-Minister of War and six Nationalist leaders from Bagdad and suppressing several native newspapers.

State Orchestra In Australia Failure

(China Press Service)

Sydney, N. S. W., August 15.—Announcement of the impending dissolution of the State orchestra has thrown the New South Wales musical world into consternation. The government has given the musicians 3 months notice following the announcement that the deficit last year amounted to approximately $50,000 and that the annual expense were more than $100,000. The plens of music-lovers to the government asking a reconsideration of the decision to abolish the orchestra have been unavailing thus far.

Paris, August 31.—According to advices from Angora a jubilant communique claims that the Turks are advancing everywhere capturing prisoners. The Greeks are fleeing and abandoning great quantities of material.

An unconfirmed telegram reports that the Turks have occupied Eskishehr.

On the contrary, an Athens semi-official report says that the evacuation of Afiun Karahissar was carried out in perfect order and all material withdrawn to the new line, from which the Greek artillery dominates the town.

INSTINCT vs. INTELLIGENCE

Why aren't all humans as wise as some animals? During the season of plenty these make provision for the wants of the winter when they no longer can secure food.

The bear fattens himself for his period of hibernation; the bee hoards honey; the squirrel stores away a supply of nuts.

What animals do through instinct—men should do through intelligence and will-power.

Demurrer Is Sustained In Standard Oil Case

The demurrer to the action filed against the Standard Oil Company by the Hsu Wen Hwa Tang, for recovery of property in Chinkiang is sustained by a ruling handed down by Judge C. S. Lobingier of the United States Court for China yesterday. Attorneys in the case are Mr. S. Fessenden, of Fessenden and Holcomb, for the demurrant, and Mr. R. T. Bryan, of Davies and Bryan, contra. The judgment follows:

This is an action to recover the possession of certain real property situated in the city of Chinkiang, with damages for its alleged wrongful detention. The original pleading contains as its first averment "that the plaintiffs are a Chinese family composed of a body of individuals known and styled as the Hsu Wen Hwa Tang."

Defendant now interposes a demurrer on the grounds inter alia "that the plaintiffs have no legal capacity to sue" and "that there is a defect of parties plaintiff."

Authority for the above quoted averment is claimed in the following provision:

"When two or more persons associated in any business, transact it under a common name, they may sue and be sued therein regardless of whether it includes their individual names, but the latter must be disclosed upon demand of the adverse party."

It is not alleged, however, that plaintiffs are "associated in any business." It is, indeed, averred that "during the month of August, 1919, the said plaintiffs were the owners" of the land in question but whether they owned it jointly or in severalty is not alleged nor does it appear from the Chinese deeds attached as exhibits. In fact we have not been able to find in any of these exhibits a single reference to the name which plaintiffs have here adopted nor anything to connect them with this property. We do find, however, a phrase like this in nearly every deed:

"The vendor declares that prior to this selling, this land has not been owned by any relative or member of family either partially or totally." (Ex. J.)

This indicates that it is quite possible for a relative of plaintiffs to have had an interest in the land which would not be barred by a judgment against plaintiffs. But defendant is entitled to meet in this proceeding all who share plaintiffs' claim of title so that the issues will not need to be relitigated here.

The code provision above quoted was not intended to authorise loose pleading nor to repeal the ordinary requirements governing the joinder of parties. It was designed merely to reach the special case where persons are "associated in any business." In all other cases the old rule prevails that "all the parties to an action should appear in it, as plaintiffs or defendants and by their individual names," unless "it is impracticable to bring them all before the court," in which case a special form of representation is permitted. It is not alleged that such is the case here nor who, if any one, is authorised under Chinese law to represent the family nor do we find anything in the case cited by plaintiffs' counsel which tends to support their pleading.

The demurrer is therefore sustained.

By the Court,
CHARLES S. LOBINGIER,
Judge.

Kansu 'Quake Report May Presage Another Horror

non-resistant quality gave cities and houses the full effect of the shock. Foreigners who visited some of its villages weeks afterwards found the survivors wandering about in a stupor, too dazed to bury the dead.

The few missionaries stationed in Kansu's farthest West were so overwhelmed by the demanding needs of the stricken people that they had no time to give the details of the catastrophe to the world. Later, when relief funds were established, the homeless victims of the seismic dance went to work in an attempt to reconstruct their ruined province. Almost the hardest factor with which the relief workers had to contend was the apathy of the people. The tragedy was so enormous that it paralysed their minds and wills. The burial by a landslide of the most powerful Mohammedan leaders during the holding of a secret conference in a cave deeply affected the followers of the Prophet. Faithful Buddhists claimed that earthquake was the direct result of Mohammedans' sins. Mohammedans tried to shift the blame on the Buddhists, but the dead leaders, sealed in a cave under tumbling cascades of loess, took much of the force from their arguments.

By slow degrees the people of Kansu rallied from their stupor. New buildings took shape in the shattered cities, roads were uncovered beneath the drifts of earth, and caravans began their journeys again into Ordos and Thibet. Now just as the province was beginning to pull itself together, comes the news of another shock and another message of widespread disaster. Just how great the loss of life and property has been probably will not be known for some time to come, but undoubtedly it will be many moons before the panic-stricken people of Kansu rally for a second time to the task of rebuilding all that was lost during the moments that the dragon turned over.

Women's Party At Peking Dines M.P.'s

(Chung Hsi Service)

Peking, Aug. 28.—The Women's Political Association gave a tea party to the members of Parliament at the Peking University Sunday. Some 60 M.P.'s attended and the question of constitutional guarantees for the equal franchise were discussed.

The advocates of the movement have two main clauses in mind at the moment. The first of these is the paragraph in which it is set forth that the people of the Republic of China are of equal right in race, rank and religion and so on. The Association wants to insert the words males and females.

The second point which they wish to safeguard comes in the Fourth and Fifth Articles of the Election Regulations for representatives. In this they would insert the word "people" in place of the text which now mentions only "males."

Yesterday the Association asked their Parliamentary guests to help them achieve this particular aim and to do all they could to further the general principles of liberation for the Chinese woman. They pointed out that this was a service whose success would be of material benefit not only to the women of the country but to all the people of China.

As the rebels have taken to the woods to avoid a collision fighting has not yet commenced. The Government troops are supposed to be endeavoring to press the enemy to the mountain regions where they would be likely to perish owing to lack of supplies.

AMERICAN SCHOOL IN PEKING OPENS ON SEPTEMBER 13

Building Enlarged And Staff Augmented For Fall Term

(China Press Correspondence)

On September 13 the North China American School will reopen for its ninth year, a year marked by many changes. For the first time the school will be housed entirely within its own buildings. A new dormitory, which is nearing completion, will be ready to house about thirty girls. The building is fireproof, and fitted with outside fire escapes. Screened sleeping porches are provided for the students. In the same building are the dining hall for both boys and girls, as well as sitting rooms and a play room and assembly hall combined. At one end on the ground floor is an infirmary where any pupils who are ill can be cared for by the school nurse, Miss Carlisle, just arrived from America. Two wards will make it possible to care for both the boys and girls.

The boys' dormitory is being enlarged and improved by the addition of a two-story sleeping porch. This allows an increase in numbers without overcrowding.

Word has been received that the new principal is already in China and his early arrival at the school is expected. Mr. and Mrs. Menzi are already known to those connected with the school and further success and prosperity is anticipated under the regime of Mr. Menzi.

The other members of the staff are Miss Mary Board, who has been appointed Assistant Principal; Miss Martha Fenn, who is returning to the English department; Miss Genevieve Young, the music teacher; Mrs. Elma Gordon, the housekeeper; Miss Maude Muir, recently appointed as grade teacher; Miss Burgess, assistant in the High School, and Miss Wilkinson, a second grade teacher.

Two new class rooms have been fitted up during the summer, in the recitation hall. Forty of the 56 pupils already enrolled are in the High School. The provinces from which the students come are Chihli, Shantung, Fukien, Shansi, Honan. Two of the graduation class of 1922 wish to spend another year in China and are returning for postgraduate work in science and Chinese.

The year 1921-1922 ended most successfully. Commencement day was June 8. The graduation exercises were in the morning and in the afternoon the high-school pupils gave a dramatic performance for the entertainment of the guests. The graduation class consisted of four members, Esther Bright, Huntley Glass, Bergen Stelle, and William Tucker. Each member delivered an essay and all showed thoughtful preparation. The address to the class was by Consul Fuller of Tientsin.

The play, 'The Rivals' by Sheridan, was given in the assembly hall of Lu He Academy. Hearty congratulations were due both pupils and teachers for the excellent performance.

Peking Baseball Squad To Arrive Tonight; Opens Six Game Series Tomorrow

Championship Of China At Stake In Final Games Of 1922 Series

The arrival of the Peking Marines baseball squad, representing the best baseball nine of North China this evening marks the approach of the final big league series of the Shanghai season. The local team opens tomorrow in a six game series against the visitors. The title for China is at stake.

Shanghai will meet the visitors tomorrow, Sunday, Tuesday, Thursday, and on the next Saturday and Sunday. Should the typhoon interfere with the schedule in the next few days the postponed games will be played on the off days between.

The Peking Marines will probably give the Shanghai nine the best test of baseball seen here so far this season. They have been rated as even up with Gallop's nine, and the figures for the past season would prove out the claim. The Marines have beaten the Fort Mills nine two games out of three which by the way is the record of the 15th Infantry of Tientsin over the Philippine army men. As between the Marines and the Tientsin soldiers, honors favor Peking, with their three wins out of five. Major Dent of the Fort Mills Nine on leaving here after his series against Shanghai said that Shanghai and the Peking nine were even propositions.

The series will mark the closing of the Shanghai Baseball season. In spite of the fact that the flagship Huron, together with two or more divisions of the destroyer flotilla are due here early in September, no further important games will be played at the ball grounds due to the fact that the club must dismantle and store away its stands for the winter immediately after the Peking games. The team will likely go on the tour of Japan in the middle of next month.

TENNIS LEAGUE THIRD ROUND ON THIS AFTERNOON

The third week's play in the Shanghai tennis league will be held this afternoon provided courts are in condition and the typhoon has passed. Three club matches are scheduled in the first division and three others in the second. The Recs' first and second division teams are on byes.

The Cricket Club teams, at present leading both divisions by narrow margins are scheduled to play the Country Club in the first division on the S. V. C. grounds; and the Police in the second division on the latter's grounds.

The Portuguese teams are to meet the two Japanese teams. The Portuguese first division team is now second in their division and are certain to draw high up above the Recs, holders of third place, but out of the play today. In the second division the Portugese are fairly certain of going from third to second place displacing the Recs second division team by a small margin for the position. No other changes of import are anticipated.

The Cercle Sportif Francais meets the Columbia Country club in the odd matches in both first and second divisions.

All matches commence at 5 o'clock.

The Police have announced the following pairs for today:

Bourne and Rull, Wainwright and Beatty, Jefferson and Shellswell, Clissold and Mason, Hunter and Wood.

The Portuguese announce the following first division pairs:

Carnavarro and Arthur Leitao, G. da Silva and Alv. Leitao, R. Roberts and S. Oliveira, A. Gomes and Ribeiro, J. Silva and C. Passos.

NEW RACE BOOK MAKES FOR EASY FORM FOLLOWING

A new Racing Record, published by the Shanghai Race Club, and containing the complete "form" history of ponies and riders on Shanghai and Kiangwan tracks from January 1 to June 30, together with a supplement showing records on other courses of ponies which have raced or which will race on local tracks this year, has just come off the press.

The volume contains all of the detailed information written in other Records, but one very welcome innovation gives the book an added value that can only be appreciated by the race-goer who studies past performances and forms his opinion therefrom. The added item is the numbering of the races in the record, and the placing of the number of the last previous race in which the pony ran opposite its name in the summary. A glance through the New Record will enable a race follower to trace back any pony's performance throughout the year, and should the numbering of races and ponies be carried forth to subsequent records, one eventually may be able to find in a few moments the complete history of any pony's track record. All that will be required to make the system ideal is to follow out the American system in full, and place the numbers of each pony's last previous race opposite its name in every program of coming races.

The new Record, though it fails to record the position of each pony at each quarter mile post, as in American form books permits one to search back easily for actual results, together with the names of the riders and the weight carried in each race. The book is a valuable reference for racing fans, the most valuable ever issued by the local club. It may be purchased at book shops.

Indian Fanatics In New Outbreaks

(Reuter's Service)

Lahore, Aug. 30.—There has been a serious recrudescence of trouble with the Sikh Akali, otherwise fanatics, as a consequence of several of them attempting to seize private property attached to a Sikh shrine near Amritsar.

The head priest complained to the authorities, who arrested the offenders, upon which others defiantly repeated the offence until 200 were arrested, including local notables.

The authorities are now searching the trains and detaining Akalis, a large number of whom left for Amritsar when the news of the trouble was circulated in the Punjab.

The contrast between the old-fashioned girl and Miss 1922, their methods of hunting down a husband, always an interesting comparison, is the revolving point of this fast whirling romance. "DON'T CALL ME LITTLE GIRL."

There is some excellent comedy and a never-flagging pep that brings the interest to a pitch and keeps it there.

This picture may be set down as one of the best productions in which MARY MILES MINTER HAS YET APPEARED.

The typhoon will probably cross the Shanghai district, and reach the Yangtsekiang mouth. Religion And Humanity

WE present herewith Mr. G.L.'s reply to Mr. H. K. M. The latter is the young Japanese poet, a Buddhist, whose letter we published yesterday. The discussion arose out of "Miss Sophia's" letter on the universality of religion:

Editor, THE CHINA PRESS

Dear Sir: I have pleasure in answering Mr. H. K. M's inquiry. Edwin, King of Northumbria, hesitating to receive or reject the doctrines brought by Paulinus from Rome, called a meeting of his chief priests and nobles and bade them speak their mind freely. Then, Coifi, chief priest of the idols rose up and said: "When, O King, in midwinter, you and your nobles are seated together here in the great hall, a sparrow chased by the wind and snow flies in by one gate and gets out by the other, our eyes follow her for a moment during her flight and then she is seen no more to be lost again in the wintry night. Such is the life of man. We know what we see but what comes before and what comes after we know not. If these new teachers can show us anything certain concerning these things we ought to hear them."

What Coifi wished to learn is the mission of Christianity to teach all nations.

Christ is the Living Model we must all learn to imitate. We must take up his Teachings as illustrated by his Life. That first baptism when Christ was baptised with water and the Holy Ghost descended upon him under the form of a dove was a beautiful lesson. It was an outward sign of inward grace.

Christianity teaches that unless a man be born again of water and of the Holy Ghost he cannot enter the Kingdom of God, for nothing defiled can enjoy that intimate union with God, that Beatific Vision which is the final aspiration of all Christians. Therefore no one who has not been purged of his sins by Baptism can enter Heaven.

Man is made after the image of God. His will is all-powerful. If a man declared that with every beating of his heart he wished to utter a curse he would be guilty of a heinous crime although he did not actually do so. On the other hand, if with every beating of his heart he wished to praise God he would have made a most holy resolution.

Based on the efficacy of Intention we have three forms of baptism: Baptism of water, of blood, of desire.

Had Mr. Momotaro a love for God and did he do all for the love of God? If he did, as I believe he did, he received the baptism of desire. His life was a life of love for God. He wished to be pure for his God. He devoted his life to the service of the God who is the source of life and truth. He washed himself of his sins by his love and when he appeared before his judge he was received with open arms: Come, my son, you have done well. He that hath loved much, to him much is forgiven.

On the other hand if Mr. Momotaro had practised virtue for virtue's sake, as an end in itself, he would not have gained any merit before God as he maintained that virtue is its own reward. Christianity teaches that he will not be admitted to the Divine Presence but will get what he justly deserves. It does not devolve upon us to judge a man. God alone who knows the secrets of man's heart will judge. (I am, etc.,

HER BROTHER'S VOICE—WRITE YOUR OWN RECORD

Pet Peeves Editor, The China Press

Dear Peeve:—I've a grievous grouch and I'm going to tell you all about it. My brother is fifteen and his voice cracks like a foghorn and oh Mr. Editor he just loves singing! If Skinny Shaner sounds one half as bad when he cheers himself up with a song or two, I don't blame poor Shrimp.

And oh Mr. Editor last Friday night, after we had our usual scrap for the inside half of the Evening Star to read "Beauty and Nick," and after I got it and was all excited to see whose side Nick took,—think after all that there was no story, only a Public Warning not to buy some synthetic whisky or something like that. That was quite bad enough for one night—dear Mr. Editor—somehow you didn't seem so dear then—but on top of all that I hear my musical brother murdering some song that I was just beginning to like.

My brother's got two big ears, but you wouldn't believe me if you heard him singing in the next room.

Please don't sign my real name Mr. Editor because my brother might try to show me the difference between his voice and a fog horn. Yours despairingly,

SISTER.

"SAY IT WITH FLOWERS!"

Pet Peeves Editor, The China Press

Dear Peeve Editor:—Have I a pet peeve? I'll say I have! And her name is the Star Shopper. No, we are not referring to the lady who gives the public tips on hair-ribbons and bassinets in The Evening Star. I mean that type of person who knows more about shopping in China than Santa Claus and more about objects d'art than the curator of the Peking Museum.

She is the female who always takes the joy out of life when one of her friends buys a Mandarin coat or a brass incense-burner or a few bits of cloissone. She is the creature who takes up a purchase, squints at it and exclaims, "Why, my dear! Did you pay ten dollars for that? Why, I bought the same thing in the Native City for $4.50, just like yours, only mine has twice as much gold embroidery in it." She is the object who runs her finger-nail over the face of my best Buddha, obligingly leaving a white trail over his countenance and chest just to prove that he is only soapstone at heart.

She is the meuble who tests my Foochow lacquer ware by knocking it against the sideboard in order to show me that it has only a foundation of wood, instead of silk as claimed. She is the commodity who finds the Japanese trademark on the bottom of my Chien Lung vases and tells me all about the Thieves' Market where she bought the real thing for half the price. She is the crime who informs me that my amber is too cold and my crystal too warm. She casts down my pride from high places and makes me realise that I am a easy mark. In other words, she is my Pet Peeve.

Sometimes I screw up courage enough to ask her to let me see some of the incomparable treasures that she picked up like a magnet for only half their rightful value. But somehow I never get to see them. She has always just shipped a whole trunkful off to America or else they are stored away in an inaccessible part of the attic. Unlike the good children of the proverb, they are heard of but never seen. I live in hopes of an early funeral.

Grouchimus.

SOME PEOPLE ARE HARD TO ANNOY!

Pet Peeves Editor, The China Press

Sir:—Before I make a confession I wish to state in justice to myself that the ordinary things which peeve people have no effect on me whatsoever. Shanghai's crowded street cars do not rile me. I love my fellow man and deem it a privilege to rub elbows with him. Over-sensitive persons have condemned Chinese chauffeurs who blow raucous horns unnecessarily. I think this practice is all right. Motor car sirens remind me of speed, progress, civilisation. No, let 'em blow. It's all right. My general fondness for sounds makes me glad even to sit next to noisy soup eaters. But—

It un-nerves me for days to be seated at a table with a person who experiences trouble with fish bones. I do not wish to be unreasonable. It is to be admitted that some bones are too large to be masticated and must be removed. Nevertheless, the direct method is responsible for my greatest annoyance.

I shudder when I think of a certain boarding house. Across the table from me sat the greatest bone-annoyer it has been my misfortune to encounter anywhere in the world. One day he had his eyes closed and the waiter, unknown to him, removed the plate, and the bone—part of a chicken's back with several ribs attached—fell on the cloth.

In his confusion I suggested "Throw it under the table."

But he had a better way. He pointed to the striking beauty of a sun-set in one of the many lovely pictures on the wall. Of course, everyone looked at the picture. When we glanced back at the table the bone was gone.

I staggered to my room, weak and dizzy. For three days and as many nights I was in bed with a high fever. When I began to recover I sent for the landlady.

"See here," I explained. "I'm going back to the table tomorrow and until I can get on my feet I wish you would not serve meat of any kind with bones."

She promised and while she was still buying boneless meat I moved to a private flat.

Verne Dyson.

CHINESE WORKMEN

Pet Peeves Editor, The China Press

Dear Pet:—Before arriving in China in February, Nineteen Eighteen, I never had a "peeve." Sunshine philosophy was my philosophy and everything—and everybody—was lovely.

Kindly consider my peculiar situation. I am twenty-nine years old, married to the finest lady in the world, and have the only two boy babies. In keeping with my profession and my situation I have a goodly number of servants. In the natural course of events in keeping house Chinese workmen have to be called in.

Now if I'm so far removed from the pristine sunshine of my youth as to have a "peeve," it's against Chinese workmen. Many, many thanks to you for giving me a chance to vent my "peeve," which is against practically all the workmen I've had to do with. Wish you had more time to listen, but since I'm limited to so few words I'll speak of only six Chinese workmen I've known.—

1. My cook! Now your mind has already anticipated my story. But, did yours take the cutglass bowl with silver rim—wedding gift—and pour boiling-hot cherries into it and come and tell you he couldn't see how it happened to break considering how many times he had done that same thing before?

2. My amah! Yes, yours may be awful;—but, did she put two babies in the rabbit pen? And when the one legitimate cause of hysterics with you was a baby exposed to a water buffalo, did you find her letting your eighteen months old baby play at striking a water buffalo on the tail with a stick?

3. Ah! and then—my carpenter! The whole seven of them couldn't equal one specimen of the real article. My carpenter!—with three comrades sleeping, one smoking, one making tea on a fire of chips on the front stone steps, and one standing idle discussing "heaven and earth" with the lone man working in a hurry to get the unfinished living room of the new house ready for my first-born's first birthday party!

4. My plasterer! The cunning little one who repairing the hole the storm left fell with all his "stickyments" east, west, north and south and mostly down into the bathtub. And—all over—there was nothing he could do to help the appearance of all he had messed up.

5. My plumber! The one who used old, dirty, "poison-gassed" pipe in rigging up my Berkefeld filter.

6. My piano tuner!—who with a white accomplice crossed his legs while tuning my piano and left his footscratches on the polished surface of my new piano—another wedding gift—along with a bill for $10.00.

Sir, do they "work" you or work for you?

Time up, and yet I know I have your sympathy. Sincerely yours,

"STUNG."

The End Of "Liverpool Jack"

New York, July 23.—Patrolman Arthur Loewe, shot four times just before dawn yesterday in a single-handed pistol battle with four safebreakers in South Brooklyn, died at 10.15 o'clock last night in Methodist Episcopal Hospital.

Loewe, an aviation veteran of the World War and a policeman of gallant record, struggled bravely to the end, aided by all that surgeons and nurses could do for him, but the four bullets which had drilled through his body proved too much for him.

And before he went Loewe had the satisfaction of knowing that as a result of the shots he fired in the dark yard behind H. L. Heberlein's warehouse in Brooklyn one of the most notorious of crooks had preceded him.

When Loewe, summoned by Mrs. Marie Kennedy of 253 Eighth Street, who was awakened by her crying baby and saw two men scaling her back fence into the warehouse yard, had fought his fight with the pair and two who vaulted back over the fence to aid them, there was nothing but a trail of blood to tell that he had not fought wholly in vain.

All day long the police waited, certain that at least one gunshot case would show up somewhere. They were right. Yesterday afternoon John Walsh, known to criminologists of two continents as "Liverpool Jack," left this life, down near the Navy Yard, four miles from where the pistol fight had taken place.

Just as soon after that as they could the police got word to Loewe that a man had been accounted for, that he was one who had preyed for more than fifty years with England and America as his chosen hunting grounds, a man whose business was safe cracking, whose list of aliases was overlong, who had spent more than thirty of his sixty-five years in prison and who, at the very moment when, twice wounded, he had dropped his burglar tools and fled with his pals, was badly wanted in Trenton.

Loewe died with all the consolation his family and his religion could give him. He will be buried with police honors, a hero who gave his life in the doing of his duty.

The other man slunk away from the fight, hid himself in a tenement bedroom, staunched his own wounds as best he might with tissue paper, refused the aid of either doctor or priest, drove away his sister in fear, and died alone. His body was taken to the Kings County morgue for an autopsy.

Uniformed men and detectives, set to avenge the shooting of their comrade and bent upon the capture of a band that had shown itself desperate and dangerous in the early morning encounter, got their first real start on the case when a telephone message came to Brooklyn Police Headquarters from Mrs. Rose Ryan, wife of a truck driver, asking that an ambulance be sent to her home at 24 Carlton Avenue, as a man had been shot.

Detectives hustled in the wake of the ambulance from Cumberland Street Hospital. They got there just as Dr. Gerber was straightening up from a brief examination of a shriveled form on the bed to shake his head and say that the man was dead.

Even death, as the detectives bent over, could not conceal that the man who lay there among tumbled bedclothes, reddened from wounds ill staunched, was an ex-convict. Aged, hard, worn, they might have mistaken him for some bedraggled mendicant but for that evil face, the shifty look that it still wore and the pallor that comes only of long years of forced housing.

A closer scrutiny, and one exclaimed:

"Liverpool Jack—at last?"

The detectives took the weeping Mrs. Ryan to the station house, and there before they released her as quite innocent of any knowledge of the associates even, of the unregenerate brother who made his occasional home with her, they got the story. It was a story told by the woman with no consciousness of its dramatic picturing of one who had fought the world all his life, and who, in the end, refusing all comforts and all company, had chosen to die alone.

It was just breaking day when Mrs. Ryan heard her brother come reeling into the tenement, grope his way down the dim hall and enter his room. She never suspected that anything worse than drink was wrong with him until about 10 o'clock she heard groans. She went in to find a pain-wracked figure tossing on the bed, while the life fluid oozed slowly from a wound in the chest and another in the right arm.

"What's happened?" gasped Mrs. Ryan.

"Fight with a cop. He shot, I shot," Walsh mumbled.

"I'll get an ambulance doctor."

Slowly, painfully, the failing man worked himself almost upright. Pointing a shaking, shrunken finger at his sister, he said:

"If you go out of this room to get a doctor I'll jump out the window."

A glance into the baleful eyes that bored into hers told Mrs. Ryan he meant it, so she promised not to get the ambulance.

"But a priest, poor fellow," said she; "a priest you'll be wanting."

The voice that had quavered in its protest against the doctor was steady and hard as, syllable by syllable, Walsh got out:

"Do and I kill you."

The sister gave a gesture of surrender and the injured man, fumbling under his pillow, produced a bottle of raw iodine.

"Pour this in 'em," he ordered.

Tears flowed from his eyes, and the clenched mouth trembled as Mrs. Ryan doused the open wounds. When the brown liquid had soaked down into the tissue paper Walsh had managed to cram into his hurts he sank back exhausted, using his last bit of strength to wave his sister from the room.

For hours after that Mrs. Ryan sat in her parlor and prayed, or tiptoed to the door of the soundless room, afraid to stay out, afraid to go in. Each time she would wring her hands and go back in despair to her chair by the window, waiting, waiting for the summons she believed must come.

It never came. At 3 o'clock in the afternoon, able to bear it no longer, she gently opened the door and went softly to the bedside. There was no need for her quiet then. Liverpool Jack was dead.

Captain John J. McClosky was notified by the Classon Avenue men of their find in the tenement. He came to the station to share in questioning Mrs. Ryan. He got nothing from that, but as soon as his own look, before the dead man was taken to the Kings County morgue, had satisfied him that the man really was the notorious Walsh he ordered word conveyed to the Methodist Episcopal Hospital.

It was cheering to Loewe, but surgeons said last night that even with that stimulus he hardly could pull through. He had been hit four times instead of twice, as had appeared at first. One bullet had lodged in the groin, another had penetrated the right side above the hip and punctured the intestines and two others had passed through his body.

When the examination of Mrs. Ryan was done and the messengers were on their way to the hospital, McClosky went back to his own office and produced from the files this tabloid record of the career of Liverpool Jack:

Oct. 9, 1878, as John Warren, sentenced to Sing Sing Prison from Manhattan for burglary.

June 2, 1883, as John Welsh, sentenced to prison for five years in Manchester, England, for receiving stolen goods.

April 5, 1893, as John Wogan, sentenced at Pougskeepsie to one year in jail for burglary.

March 3, 1895, as John Wesley, sentenced in St. Louis to six months in jail for having burglar's tools.

March, 1896, as John Walden, sentenced in Baltimore to ten years for attempted burglary.

August 15, 1905, as James Wren, sentenced in South London England, to seven months for attempted burglary.

——, 1906, as John Walker sentenced in London, England, to five years for larceny.

——, 1911, as John Walsh sentenced in Jersey City to three years in the State Prison at Trenton for burglary and being a fugitive from justice.

——, 1914, as John Walker sentenced at Trenton to one year for burglary.

Captain McClosky said that Walsh was born somewhere in the Cherry Hill section of Manhattan, and that for many years he had roamed the old Fourth and Seventh Wards.

Walsh in all his aliases never forewent the W with which his real name started, an idiosyncrasy which he refused to give up even when at times it seemed to make things comparatively simple for the police. In his own safe-blowing line he was an expert and an associate of experts, an associate indeed, of more than two generations of them, as the professional lives of such go.

So far as known, he had no near relatives except the sister whom he drove away yesterday morning that he might die alone.

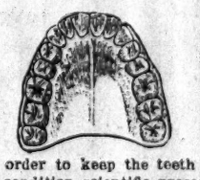
How to Preserve the Teeth



In order to keep the teeth in a good condition scientific precaution must be taken. Through negligence, decay and numerous other affections such as tooth-ache, dental periostitis, esteo-periostitis, necrosis of the jaw, etc., may arise. During the process of ingestion, there are settled on the teeth some deposits of mineral and organic matters, called tartar, which possesses a morbid power of pressing the gum. As an inevitable result of the presence of this tartar, the teeth will become elongated and movable and will, by degrees, absorb away the enamel, leading ultimately to the decay and degeneration of the teeth. The tartar is so hard and resistant to the process of brushing that it cannot be scraped off except with dental instruments specially devised for that purpose.

Dr. KINGMAN offers to the public his service for preserving their teeth at an annual subscription Fee of $10.00 per head to be paid in advance.

The work to be done by Dr KINGMAN to the subscribers consist in:—

(1) Cleaning of the teeth quarterly.
(2) Filling with gold platinum alloy only, when the teeth present holes.
(3) Inspecting the teeth at any time at the desire of the subscribers.

Exchange Fluctuations

Asia Banking Corporation

August 31, 1922

Spot and Forward Bar Silver were each unchanged in London yesterday. The New York price advanced to 69⅝ cents and the London-New York cross rate to 446½.

The only change in our Official rates here today was a rise in the Franc rate to 1,000. Our market here today was very much along yesterday's lines although perhaps a shade steadier, there being sellers today at about the rates at which there were buyers yesterday.

Some business in Sterling was done at 3-5⅝ for September delivery and 3-5 11-16 for Forward. There were probably more buyers at 3-5 11-16 for October delivery than sellers and more sellers at this rate for November-December than buyers.

Gold Dollars were considerably steadier today than yesterday, speculators being quite heavy sellers. A fair amount of business was done at 77 7-16 for October and 77¾ for November in Gold Dollars. There were probably more sellers than buyers at these rates.

Some business in Yen was done at 61 11-16 September and 61¾ October delivery, Banks were quoting 3-6¾ for Sterling Bills, 79 for Gold Dollar Bills and 1040 for Franc Bills.

Both the London and New York Silver market are reported as quiet and steady.
